

Who are we?

AlteregoRelativamenteSensibili is an artistic research project born on October 2, 2008 from the collaboration of Francesca Spisto and Laura Bucciarelli.

It communicate its vision of the world through mediums of all kinds in search of a personal, light, ironic language.

AlteregoRelativamenteSensibili is, by choice, consisting of two female gender identity.

If it were an object, it would be a tetrapack container.

If it were a city, it would be Berlin.

If it were a colour, it would be white.

If it were a characteristic, it would be the ease.

If it were a television program, it would be the interval.

If it were a material, it would be plastic.

If it were a virtue, it would be dedication.

If it were a historical age, it would be today.
